Hungarian Regime Concedes To Rebels

Nation Is Told To Prepare For Free Elections

Communist Premier Tells Russian Army To Leave Budapest

VIENNA (AP) — Hungary's Red government virtually conceded complete victory to the revolutionary forces today and called on the nation to prepare for free elections. Premier Imre Nagy announced the one-party Communist system has been abolished.

The Communist Premier told the nation he has called on the Soviet army command to begin immediate withdrawal of Soviet troops from revolt-torn Budapest.

Nagy proposed in a broadcast over radio Budapest the formation of a coalition government—meaning one of several parties—similar to that established just after the end of World War II in 1945.

Peasant Party Popular

The Peasant party and a moderate party of farmers and businessmen called the Smallholders were among the most popular at that time.

The announcement was broadcast at 2:30 p.m. (7:30 a.m. CST).

Fighting slackened off at the Maria Tereza barracks, a rebel stronghold in a week of civil war. Insurgents who had held out against Soviet tank fire marched out defiantly this morning and announced they would not put down their arms until the Russians have left Budapest.

Five Soviet tanks were still parked about 500 yards from the barracks. The government-controlled radio had promised the Russians would start pulling back to their Hungarian bases at 9 a.m. (2 a.m. CST) "after insurgent forces start surrendering their arms." That hour passed without confirmation of any general withdrawal.

Nagy, a veteran Red once imprisoned as Titoist, reiterated a pledge that his government would start at the earlier possible moment to negotiate with the Soviet government for complete withdrawal of Russian soldiers from Hungary.

VIENNA (AP) — Premier Imre Nagy told the revolution-torn Hungarian nation today the one-party system imposed on the nation by the Communists has been abolished.

Nagy announced to the nation over radio Budapest that he was calling on the Soviet army command in Budapest to begin the immediate evacuation of Russian troops from the city.

The announcement was broadcast at 2:30 p. m. (7:30 a.m. CST). Throughout most of the morning, radio Budapest had remained silent about developments in the capital. From other sources, it was reported that fighting was continuing there, with the rebels seeking to evict the Russian troops.

Nagy said the Hungarian government would start at the earliest.

1,200 Pottery Workers At Newell Still Idle

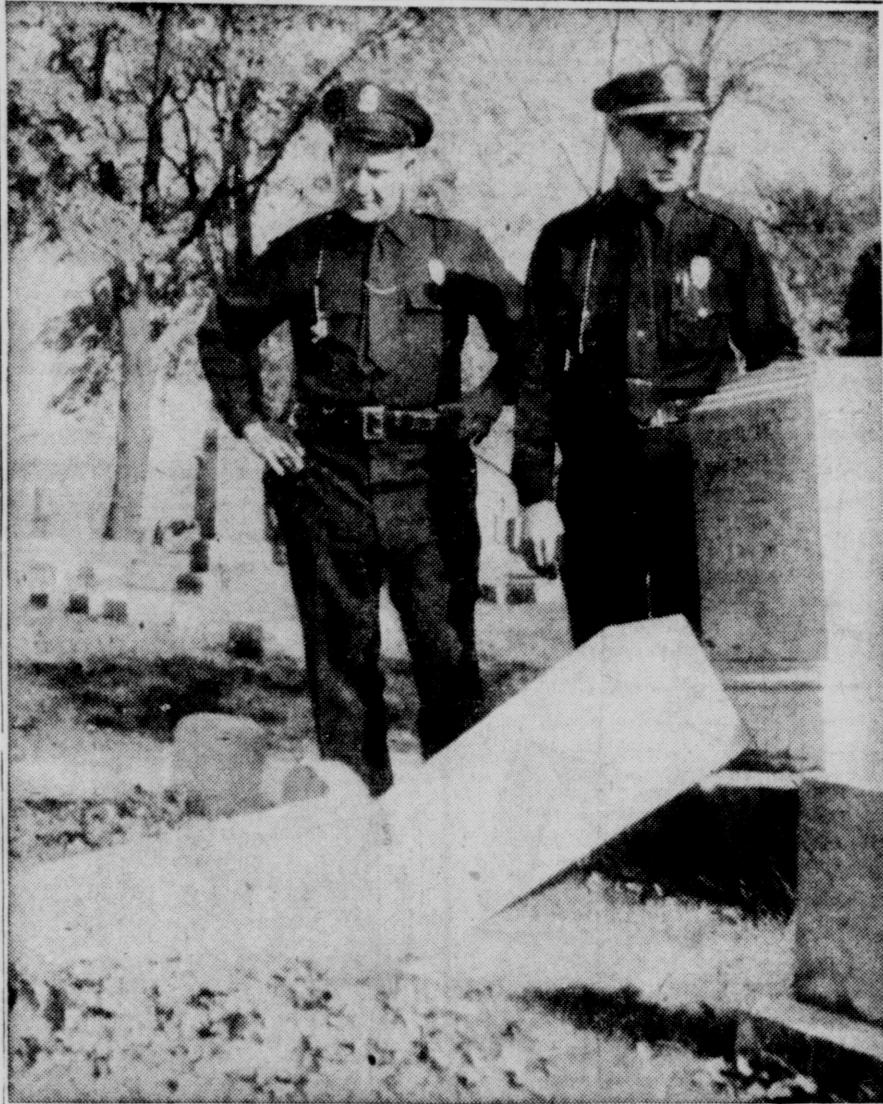

An estimated 1,000 to 1,200 employees remained idle today at the Homer Laughlin China Co. at Newell, W. Va., as the result of a Kilnmen's walkout that flared into major proportions Monday, but a company spokesman said today the employees are expected to be back on their jobs Wednesday.

The work stoppage idled about 100 when it started Friday. The number off work grew to major proportions yesterday when kilnmen in three plants did not report.

Terminating the walkout "unauthorized," the management said it did not know why the workers walked out. Top officials of the International Brotherhood of Operative Pottery are out of town and unavailable for comment.

U. N. Summoned To Study Attack

Seek Way To Avert New Threat To Peace

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Israel's lightning march into Egypt brought a hurried summons for the Security Council to meet today to consider ways of averting the serious new threat to peace in the Middle East.

Ask Allies' Backing
The United States, which requested the council meeting, was reported considering asking U.N. members to take major economic and diplomatic reprisals against the Israelis.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles asked France and Britain to join America in seeking council action. The Western Big Three under a 1950 declaration are joint guarantors of the Arab-Israeli demarcation lines.

An authoritative government source in London said the British government was ready to force Israel troops out of Egypt if the thrust proved to be an all-out invasion designed to seize some of Egypt's territory.

French, British Confer
French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau flew to London to confer with the British on the Middle East crisis. Premier Mollet summoned a special cabinet meeting and also was to go to London later.

There was no indication so far of the French attitude. France is pressing charges in the council that Nasser is aiding the rebellion against French rule and Algeria and also is bitter over Nasser's seizure of the canal.

The Soviet Union was certain to side with Egypt.

MEETING DATE CHANGED
The regular meeting of the Fraternal Order of Police Associates will be held Nov. 8 at the Roman Club on S. Ellsworth Ave., instead of Thursday as previously announced.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, the running mate of Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson, made a series of speeches that ended Monday night in Canton. One of his statements was issued in a plane as he flew between engagements.

In that one, the Tennessee declared the outbreak of fighting between Israel and Egypt shows that the Eisenhower administration is "guilty of unbelievable complacency."

He said the conflict "knocks into a cocked hat the peaceful world slogan of the Republican campaign."

Raps Dulles' Policies
"The zig-zag policies" of Secretary of State Dulles "have definitely contributed to the conditions from which the present conflict results," he said.

At a courthouse square rally in Findlay, Kefauver said the President "has failed utterly, abjectly, miserably, to do what he professed to set out to do."

He described the President as "an easy and willing captive" of the reactionaries and a "front man" for Vice President Nixon.

Final Appeal For Chest Funds Made

Since $9,301.96 in funds still is needed to make the goal in the annual Community Chest "Red Feather" campaign, it is doubtful that the drive will go over the top by Wednesday as leaders have anticipated.

As of today officials report a total of $45,261.04 collected as compared to the quota of $54,563.

Today marks the beginning of the fourth week of the drive which has moved slowly during the past week.

Chairman Makes Appeal

Campaign Chairman Milton Steiner, issued a direct appeal to the citizens of the Salem area, saying: "Eleven agencies are depending on you to meet the 1956 Community Fund campaign goal. These agencies are providing services to thousands of your friends, neighbors and families. Collectively and individually they are essential to this community, and they depend upon you for financial support."

"Frankly, our fund drive is lagging. We have absolute confidence that the goal will be reached eventually, but we want to complete the drive now. Have you done your part?"

"If you haven't contributed yet, won't you make your contribution today? If you have, perhaps you should re-evaluate the amount of your gift."

"Have you increased your giving in proportion to the increase in the total fund goal? As you have prospered yourself, have you shared your good fortune? If you have already contributed this year and your answer to these questions is 'no,' then don't you think you should make an additional contribution?"

Agriculture Outlook Now Bright, Butz Tells Farmers

LISBON — "Our nation is on a march toward a prosperous, expanding free agriculture," declared Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz when he addressed a crowd of 30 farm leaders of the 18th congressional district here Monday at the Wick Hotel.

Butz declared that the Democrats have been attempting to confuse the country on the farm picture but facts show that the post-war farm adjustment ended early last winter and farm prices and income have been heading generally upward since then.

"Prices received now are about four per cent above the low of last December and the parity ratio also is above last winter," the agriculture secretary said.

He attributed a softening of the farm price index to large marketings at harvest time.

Butz pointed out that net farm income during the third quarter of 1956 was running at a rate of about eight per cent above a year ago. "It now appears that 1956 net farm income will be about $1 billion above the previous year. This will be the first peacetime increase since 1947."

"We must stop treating agriculture as a pawn in the political auction ring, to be bought by the highest and most irresponsible bidder. We must apply sound economic solutions to the farm problem."

To Remain In His Office 'Working For Peace'

Israeli Attack Forces Ike To Cancel Campaign Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today canceled his scheduled campaign trip to Dallas, Tex., Oklahoma City and Memphis, Tenn., Wednesday because of the Middle East crisis. Eisenhower sent identical messages to supporters who had arranged for his speeches in these states which supported him in 1952. The message said:

"The turn of events yesterday leaves me no option—in the interests of working for peace—but to remain at the White House Wednesday to deal with the situation developing in the Middle East."

The President said it was "with exceeding regret" that he canceled the talks.

Press Secretary James Hagerly, who announced the decision, said he did not know whether Eisenhower would be able to reschedule the visits before election day.

Philadelphia Date Uncertain
Also uncertain at the moment, Hagerly said, is whether Eisenhower will be able to keep his date in Philadelphia Thursday evening for a major address to be broadcast by radio and television (8:30 p.m. CST).

Navy Set To Build Mammoth Carrier

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas says the Navy is ready to build a mammoth 85,000-ton aircraft carrier propelled by eight atomic engines. It would be the world's biggest ship.

Thomas said construction will start in the fiscal year beginning July 1 if Congress votes the funds to be asked by the administration.

Thomas said the supercarrier's atomic power plant would give it a speed of about 33 knots and that the 85,000-ton size of the new warship would make it bigger than the 33,673-ton British liner Queen Elizabeth and 25,000 tons heavier than the existing Forrestal class of supercarriers.

Troops Advance Toward Suez On 70-Mile Front

Two Israeli Planes Reported Downed As Fighting Mounts

CAIRO (AP)—Egyptian and Israeli troops and airmen clashed deep within Egypt's Sinai Peninsula today as the U. N. Security Council was called into session to deal with the outbreak.

Egyptian President Nasser was reported to have ordered a general mobilization as the fighting looked more and more like war.

Military spokesmen at Tel Aviv announced the capture of the Egyptian position of Qusaima, about 10 miles inside the Egyptian border and about 15 miles southwest of the El Auja demilitarized border area.

This action indicated the Israelis had struck at points scattered over a 70-mile front in their invasion of Egypt Monday.

Reported Near Canal

Earlier, a two-pronged attack from Kuntilla and the head of the Gulf of Aqaba, far to the south, had been reported without confirmation to have driven almost across the peninsula to within 18½ miles of the Suez Canal.

Late Bulletins

LONDON (AP) — Britain and France declared today their forces will occupy key positions in the Suez Canal area unless Israeli and Egyptian stop fighting within 12 hours.

The two Western powers sent this warning to both Cairo and Jerusalem.

Prime Minister Eden told the House of Commons the Anglo-French operation aims to "separate the belligerents and guarantee the freedom of passage" through the Suez Canal.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today he had "heard reports" that British and French troops had landed in Egypt to help defend the Suez Canal.

Dulles told reporters, however, that he had received no official confirmation of those reports.

A Cairo communique said the Egyptian air force shot down two Israeli aircraft, destroyed 12 Israeli armored cars and strafed Israeli troops.

These attacks were said to have taken place at El Themed, 30 miles inside Egypt from the Kuntilla jumpoff point, and against Israeli troops "before the Egyptian position of Qusaima."

The communique claimed Egyptians were engaged in "mopping up operations in the Sinai Peninsula."

Israeli Airmen Attack
Tel Aviv military spokesmen announced that the Israeli air force also had gone into action and had attacked Egyptian convoys.

Earlier, neutral diplomats in Israel had expressed the fear that

Scared Marilyn Monroe Meets Queen Elizabeth

LONDON (AP)—A nervous Marilyn Monroe was presented to Britain's Queen Elizabeth II Monday night and found the monarch a "very warm" person.

The introduction came at the annual royal command film performance where members of the royal family met a group of international film stars.

"How do you like living in Windsor?" the Queen asked Marilyn.

The startled actress blinked, said "What?" then hastened to add, "I thought we lived at Englefield Green."

"Oh, we're neighbors," said Queen Elizabeth, explaining that Englefield Green, where the actress and her husband, playwright Arthur Miller, have rented a large manor, is near Windsor Castle.

Marilyn's nervousness was shared by other members of the movie group. Said veteran Joan Crawford: "I've never been so scared in all my life. Anyone want to buy a stomach cheap?"

Roast Chicken Dramatic Dish

Here's the story of an old-fashioned Rochester, N.Y., Thanksgiving dinner given a modern streamlined technique. We learned about it from Dorothy Manson Maddox, our favorite hostess.

"In my grandmother's house we often had chicken for Thanksgiving," she recalls. "The biggest, plumpest, most tender bird was roasted to a golden turn. The chicken came to the table on a huge Minton platter surrounded with all the buttery vegetables in colorful mounds—tiny balls of potatoes and carrots, whole string beans and cauliflower."

But today, a streamlined version of her grandmother's famous dinner uses instead of the 9-pound hen, two smaller birds ready for the oven.

Thanksgiving Chicken

Two 4 to 5-pound roasting chickens, ready to cook, 2 packages ready-mix stuffing, 1 cup chopped walnuts, 1 cup seedless raisins, butter or margarine.

Wash and thoroughly dry chickens. Prepare stuffing. Add nuts and raisins and lightly stuff cavity. Truss and place breast side up on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Brush chickens with butter and bake in 325 degrees F. oven for 2 hours or until chickens are brown and tender. Brush chickens with butter several times during baking.

Easier Credit For Businessmen Sought

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said here today he plans to present a bill in congress that would make it easier for small businessmen to obtain credit.

Addressing the biennial convention of the National Small Business Men's Assn., Sparkman said the stock exchange method of floating securities was too difficult for small business men in obtaining loans and that it often was not easy for them to get loans from their local banks.

Sparkman said his two-fold proposal would include setting up an insured loan system through local banks similar to that of the FHA in helping the small business man to obtain operating capital and a loan system similar to that of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. for assistance in obtaining equity capital.

Fred A. Hartley, former New Jersey congressman and co-author of the Taft-Hartley law, told the some 200 representatives of small business present that the law is not strong enough in some respects.

He said he was interested in seeing the strengthening of regulations against secondary boycotts.

Hartley also said that the monopoly and anti-trust laws should apply to big unions as well as to big business. He is now chairman of the national right to work committee.

Korean War Bonus

The first of two proposals on the statewide questions-and-issues ballot this year is a Korean War bonus.

A yes-vote on this proposal would pledge Ohio to pay up to $90 million in allotments not to exceed $400 each to Ohioans who were on active duty in the armed services between June 25, 1950, and July 19, 1953.

This is the third state bonus proposal to be submitted to Ohio voters. The first was for the benefit of World War I veterans. It was approved in 1921 by nearly a three-to-one vote. The second was for World War II veterans. It was approved in 1947 by better than a three-to-one vote.

The state's commitment in the 1921 proposal was $25 million. In the 1947 proposal it was $300 million. Ohio still owes nearly $108 million on bonds issued to pay the World War II bonus. The bonds will not be retired until 1964. Ohio property owners are paying a two-tenths of a mill levy to meet retirement costs as they fall due. This is in addition to a million dollars a month paid out of the state's general fund.

Bonds for a Korean War bonus would be issued not later than April 1, 1959, and would mature in 30 semi-annual installments beginning not later than two years after the date of issuance.

Although the proposal to do this seems almost certain to win approval, in the light of statewide votes on previous bonus proposals, it is a highly questionable financial practice.

Whatever bond requirements cannot be taken care of the general fund surpluses become a charge against Ohio property owners, a net increase in property taxes.

If it were to be stated clearly on the ballot that the issue really is whether or not to raise taxes on real estate, the outcome of the statewide vote almost certainly would be negative. Korean War veterans are not demanding a bonus. The real beneficiaries of such a bonus, if approved, would be purchasers of tax-free, state-guaranteed, interest-bearing bonus bonds.

Korean War veterans who own property and who also pay Ohio taxes that fill the general fund would pay a substantial part of their own bonuses, in effect.

The second proposal on the questions and issues ballot would give members of the Ohio Senate four-year terms. It will be discussed here in tomorrow's edition.

Undecided Voters

The big push in the closing week of the presidential campaign will be aimed at the "undecided voter."

We think he is mythical. We never knew one and never knew anyone who knew one. Yet the myth has bumbled along, helped in recent years by voters who tell pollsters they "haven't made up their minds."

So the pollsters dutifully report that so-and-so many voters have made up their minds and the myth becomes a statistic that gives political strategists the fidgets — something on which to expend energy and money.

It's like the fellow who has decided the old bus has used up its mileage and deserves a successor. Ask him what he likes and he will tell you he is looking over the field — that he is still undecided. That is what he would be if a pollster cornered him — undecided.

But privately he probably has made up his mind to stick with the manufacturer who gave him a good run for his money the last time. Whether it's automobiles, razor blades, breakfast food, soap, or laundries, the tendency is to go back to the known and to avoid the unknown.

The "undecided voter" is going to get a lot of useless attention for the next few days — useless because he doesn't exist.

Your Third?

Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, who has earned a reputation for predicting vote totals, says a third of Ohio's qualified voters will not go to the polls next month.

If you belong to the two-thirds who will show up and make a prophet out of Ted Brown, his prediction should raise a question in your mind.

Will the stay-aways be split evenly between the contending candidates for the presidency and other important offices?

If you think your side is likely to get the short end of the division, this is your reason for taking a lively interest in getting out the vote.

What can you do about it? For once, there is a simple answer to a simple question. You can ask your personal acquaintances if they intend to vote. You can make a civic project out of not letting them goof off on Nov. 6. You can swipe the trade secret of political machines in the cities—you can haul people to the polls if necessary.

Nobody would be happier than Secretary of State Brown if two-thirds of his fellow voters made a liar out of him.

Unity Required

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Divided Government Is Dangerous

Lawrence

Do the voters of America want to elect a united or a divided government next week? Do they want a responsible government by party or a irresponsible government?

Theoretically the answer is simple — unity is preferred to political chaos. But do the voters know how to get it?

Judging by the advice of a big newspaper in the east, which came out editorially the other day supporting President Eisenhower and yet advocating defeat of certain Republican candidates for Congress, it doesn't seem to matter much to that paper whether President Eisenhower's leadership is permitted to function through a Congress organized by his own party.

And if a big paper tells the people they need not be concerned with party when they vote for members of Congress, how is the average voter to learn the dangers of divided government?

Thus, certain senators renominated by the Republican party — Messrs. Dirksen of Illinois, Duff of Pennsylvania, and Welker of Idaho — are running in close races, but the voters of those states are being asked by the same eastern newspaper to cast their ballots for the Democratic nominees who must necessarily, if elected, help to organize the Senate for the party opposite to the President.

YET THE RE-ELECTION of Senators Dirksen, Duff and Welker might furnish the very votes in the Senate needed to give President Eisenhower a majority of his own party in the upper house.

When the Congress is in the hands of one party and the presidency is in the other, there is constant friction, and the public interest suffers. There is a chance then for the passage only of the legislation which can command a compromise — and usually even such bills are weakened and diluted just to get votes from both parties.

The handling of congressional investigations is sometimes cited as a reason for voting for one or the other of the parties in order to get rid of or to elect certain individuals as chairmen. But minority members of committees can always raise Cain if here is any skulduggery or cover-up.

It is more important to make sure that the president has in general a majority in the Senate and House committees to consult with him and decide what legislation is or is not permitted to be voted upon.

It is a big mystery how the eastern newspaper that calls for the defeat of three Republican senators can reconcile that bit of advice with its own persistent cry for civil rights legislation when it is known that, if the Democrats organize the Senate, the civil rights bill pending in committee will be kept as long as possible from seeing the light of day if any southern Democrat is chairman of such a committee.

The winning party selects the chairmen, who usually are ranked inside each party by the seniority system — on the basis of length of service.

IT IS AN OPEN SECRET, for example, that most of the Democratic nominees for Congress in the South have no use for Adlai Stevenson and are supporting the Democratic national ticket only because this is the way locally to insure, because of the seniority system in Congress, their own continuance in the chairmanships — obviously to retain power to block civil rights legislation. This is more important just now to the South than the presidency.

What is the average voter in the North to do? He looks at the candidates of both parties and likes or dislikes a particular nominee. Yet, while he says to himself he wants Ike to succeed, will he be giving the President, when re-elected, the help he needs in Congress to carry out his program?

The specious argument often made is that Mr. Eisenhower can count on more help from the Democrats than from the Republicans. It just isn't true. The President himself denies it.

The last two years of political fighting by the two parties in Congress has done more harm than good to the public interest.

Acts of sabotage of foreign policy programs and prevention of the passage of proposals for progressive legislation have come far more from the Democratic leadership than from the small group of dissidents in the Republican party.

THE DEMOCRATIC leaders have had the actual power to keep important bills from being acted on at all. The Republican irregulars, on the other hand, have had only a handful of votes, and these have not proved a decisive factor on any really important piece of legislation in the last three years.

A vote, moreover, for a Democratic-controlled House of Representatives next week is a vote to give the speaker again to Rep. Rayburn of Texas. He has announced that he believes as Adlai Stevenson does about giving up the H-bomb tests and taking the military risks involved in abandoning such tests merely on the paper pledge of the Soviets.

Under a law passed in 1947, the speaker of the House becomes president of the United States if the president and vice president should die or be disabled.

The operation of this particular law could completely nullify the will of the people as to what party should control the White House if the Republicans this year win the executive branch of the government while the Democrats are given control of Congress.

Incidentally, it is to be noted that, on the major bills of a domestic nature, Sens. Dirksen, Duff, and Welker have a better record of voting with the President than do many of the Democrats.

DIFFERENCES on local and regional issues and sometimes on national questions are not unusual considering the varied interests of the nation's constituencies. But party responsibility and the organization of committees in both houses in line with the programs of the chief executive are attainable only when the party in power in Congress is the same as it is in the White House.

A divided government is risky and dangerous. A government by the majority party in both executive and legislative branches is a responsible government. The people can then hold the party in power to accountability at the polls in the subsequent election.

Bible Treasure Under Sea

By WILL DANIELS

One of the most exciting adventures in the history of archeology will begin next year when underwater explorers will search the sunken ports of the biblical cities of Israel.

After a ten-day initial survey among the ruins of some of the world's oldest parts there, American undersea archeologist Edwin A. Link announced that he will return with a group of experts for further research on the sea floor of Israel's coast.

He expressed the belief that important archeological discoveries might be made.

Some valuable finds were made in the ten-day initial survey of the Mediterranean coast whose warm clear waters were described by Mr. Link as ideal for undersea exploration.

For example, the initial plunges by Mr. Link in the now deserted Roman city of Caesaria uncovered a quay built for the galleys of the early Roman Empire.

Caesaria, like the other pre-biblical cities of Acre, Jaffa, and Ascalon, not only have Roman remains still in evidence, but also served as port cities for Greek, Phoenician, and Moslem invaders of the Holy Land.

The ruins left from these cultures now litter acres of Caesaria, which was one of the great cities of the ancient Mediterranean world. The broken pottery and chipped marble from its pre-biblical houses lie in quantities on its beaches.

Previous to Mr. Link's visit to Caesaria two giant marble statues were found underground a slight distance from the beach in what is described as the patio of a Roman temple.

While the land area of the city has been only partially explored, the sea, which is believed to hold an equally interesting treasure of the ancient world, is virtually unexplored and unseen by modern man.

Other port cities explored briefly in the ten-day initial survey were Acre, and Tiberias, around whose natural hot springs the Romans built the most famous medicinal baths of the Mediterranean world. Tiberias is located not on the Mediterranean but on the sea of Galilee. Both Acre and Tiberias are inhabited today.

For the expedition next year, Mr. Link is planning to bring the latest electronic equipment used in undersea exploration. He will also bring a glass bottomed boat specially made for this type of work.

Mr. Link's enthusiasm for undersea archeology is shared by his wife. He is already well known for his work in other parts of the world. His most publicized find to date is an anchor from the Caribbean Sea which is believed to have come from Christopher Columbus ship, the "Santa Maria."

He is also a noted figure in the aviation world. As an official of the Link Aviation Company, he is known as the builder of the famous Link Trainer Plane.

Israel Carefully Timed Attack

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Israeli thrust into Egypt raises the question: Did the Israelis have a prett good idea they could get away with it?

There are some things to watch for; how far the United States is willing to go to stop this military move; and whether Britain and France are willing to join the United States in stopping it.

President Eisenhower has built his whole campaign around peace. The Israelis made their attack one week before the U.S. election.

Did they figure Eisenhower would hesitate to plunge the United States into Middle East conflict? The Israeli's timing looks more than coincidental. It's also a time when Russia has its hands full with Eastern European riots.

In 1950 the United States, Britain and France agreed they would act, either inside or outside the United Nations, to stop any aggression in the Middle East. Monday night the White House said this country would honor its 1950 pledge.

It also said that today the United States would lay the case before the U.N. But the White House didn't say what this country would do about its pledge if the U.N. did not act, or if Britain or France should balk.

Debate in the U.N. could well last more than a week, or until after next Tuesday's elections.

If the U.N. didn't act and this country decided to move into the Middle East, would Britain and France join in the undertaking? Both Britain and France were burned up at Secretary of State Dulles for urging caution instead of force after Egypt's President Nasser seized the Suez Canal last July.

Britain had effective control of that canal — with troops stationed there — until 1954. It agreed then to withdraw its troops, but with the provision that it would have the right to reoccupy the canal zone in case the waterway or Egypt was attacked.

If the British now reoccupied the area, they could argue they were merely defending the canal against the Israelis under their 1954 agreement. What would the Israelis do then, fight the British? It seems unlikely.

Were the French in the dark about the Israeli move into Egypt? Possibly. But that attack comes at a convenient time for the French, who are plagued by troubles with the Arabs in North Africa.

An Israeli attack on the Arabs anywhere in the Middle East would take some of the heat off the French. Would the French then go along if the United States decided to move into the Middle East?

Business In Politics

By RAYMOND MOLEY

The decision of Judge Picard in the Eastern District of Michigan last February in the suit brought by the department of justice against the United Auto-mobile workers has been brought by appeal to the Supreme Court.

The opinion there will have a profound bearing upon the political activities of business corporations as well as labor unions.

Under the Picard decision, as well as other judgments in similar cases, the question is raised whether, if unions are to be permitted to make political expenditures out of union funds, the same privilege must be accorded to corporations.

THE LAW INVOLVED, which is a Taft-Hartley amendment to the Federal Corrupt Practices Act, is not clear, and presumably if the Supreme Court follows the Picard line the issue will be an important item in the new Congress.

As things stand, an excellent legal opinion by a distinguished lawyer, which was presented to the Gore subcommittee considering election activities, states that a corporation may spend its funds for:

"Salaries and wages of its officers and regular employees while engaged in political activities, in the interest of the corporation, including support of a candidate for nomination or election to a federal office."

"2. Publication in any house organ or other printed document circulated at the expense of the corporation of opinion and arguments of a political nature, expressed as those of the corporation."

"3. Purchase of radio or television time or newspaper space for the presentation of political views, as those of the corporation."

"4. In short, any means of publicly or privately expressing the political views of the corporate management."

"5. In furtherance of any non-partisan effort to persuade voters to register and vote, or to disseminate information and opinions concerning public issues, without regard to political parties or candidates."

THIS LAWYER makes it clear in his opinion that he is considering only what is legal or illegal under the Federal Corrupt Practices Act. He is not considering the bearing on this issue of "federal or local tax consequences" or "legality in the sense of immunity from the consequences of dissenting stockholders' suits."

The problem seems to revolve around the legal distinction between "expenditures" and "contributions."

As I understand it, and I am subject to correction, there is a serious difference between a union's spending its money in activities conducted by itself independently of a party organization or candidate and a straight campaign gift to a party or candidate.

The Constitutional question arises from a challenge that Congress was exceeding its power in attempting to prohibit a labor union from spending its funds for political purposes even though it does not contribute money to be used by others.

Under the original terms of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act a corporation was prohibited from contributing to or in connection with an election at which presidential electors, senators and representatives are to be voted for, or to any candidate or political committee.

THE TAFT-HARTLEY enactment merely extended this prohibition to labor unions.

This interesting point is that the courts are going to be hard put to permit unions to participate in campaigns or engage in political activity between campaigns while holding the prohibition against corporations.

If both corporations and unions are to be permitted to carry on as the UAW has been conducting itself, we shall see some interesting questions raised in Congress.

Perhaps while those questions are under consideration by Congress it would be well to get a clear definition of what "political" activities are. At the present time unions are masking much of what they do along political lines under the fair name of "education."

Today we live, and I fear for long shall live, under the shadow of war. Only if we are vividly conscious of this fact will we make the exertions needed to prevent war. — Secretary of State Dulles.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Election Observation Team

"What is this?" asked one of the Russian team now in America to observe free election processes, as he looked at a voting machine. "It is a machine which registers the vote accurately," we said.

"Where is the machine which tells him what his choice must be or else?" he inquired. We told him there was no such machine and that in the American process a voter made up his own mind. He seemed quite puzzled.

"WHY IS THERE A CURTAIN on the machine?" asked the Moscow observer. We told him it guaranteed a voter privacy so nobody would know what lever he pulled. "But if he gets privacy how can a state ever prove that he voted against orders?" the Russian asked.

"There are no orders and our state takes no punitive action," we explained, with difficulty. "May we see an American voter close up?" the observer asked. We pointed to dozens all about us. "They don't look behind them to see if they are being followed. This is most curious," the observer sighed.

"American voters are never under surveillance," we said. "They are never spied on." "This is very bad," the Russian admitted.

A SECOND MEMBER of the team then asked about campaign buttons. We explained they indicated a person's choice for a man to rule the country. "Doesn't this permit people to deviate from a dictated choice?" the man asked, and we had trouble explaining deviation was any American voter's right.

A third member of the team noticed several Americans in a loud argument over candidates. "Does this not indicate great laxity by the police?" he inquired and we told him it was no crime and quite customary for Americans to talk loudly and openly about election preferences.

"TELL US ABOUT your curious custom of election returns," the man asked. "Why do people sit up to find out who won? In Russia the people know who won months before the election is held."

We skipped that one with a smile and the observers' team asked about the use of T.V. "The screen is full of candidates blasting away at other candidates," we explained.

"But the candidates who are out of office denounce those who are in power!" the man exclaimed. "And they are allowed to LIVE. They are not even arrested."

"Yes. That is democracy," we said. The team expressed the opinion this, must slow the punishment of critics. "We just heard a candidate for the White House denounce the occupant as a bungler, a timid soul, an incompetent, a falsifier, a foe of the people and a leader not to be trusted," the Russian said. "Over the video, too! When does he go to the salt mines?"

"There are no salt mines in America," we said.

"I watched a speech by your President and it was abruptly blacked out on the half hour because some company had bought time for a regular TV program. Have the company officials been liquidated?"

We saw it was no use trying to make the American election processes clear and gave up.

Our idea of a patient guy is the fellow who waits to see all the credit lines on a TV program.

Fairfield, Conn., has come up with a swell idea for reminding voters to get to the polls. . . It will ring church bells every hour on election day.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"Look again, that can't be Freddie! It used to take him two hours to go to the corner for groceries!"

To you whose grandchildren will be living in 2056, A.D.

The following message from American Iron and Steel Institute to the steelmen of 2056 has been sealed in a time capsule and placed in the cornerstone of the great new stainless steel clad office building at 150 East 42nd Street in New York City.

We reprint it here because we believe that you will enjoy knowing what the steelmen of today expect the future will bring to your loved ones.

Greetings to Steelmen of 2056

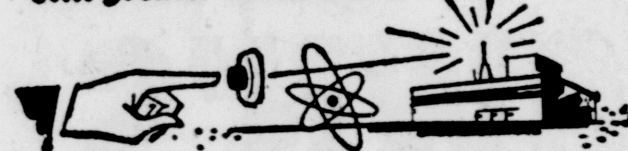

We of the American iron and steel industry of 1956 are happy to have this historic occasion to convey our greetings to you.

It is fitting that the vehicle carrying our message should be a magnificent new stainless steel clad structure—in this year 1956 the largest steel clad office building in the world.

It is also a timely coincidence that the dedication of this building takes place as we are commemorating the 100th anniversary of the patenting of the Bessemer and Kelly steelmaking processes in the United States. With these processes, the mass production of steel became possible, and the Age of Steel began.

The United States has held world leadership in steel production since 1889, and is producing some 40 per cent of the world's total output. Altogether, this country's production in this first century has reached a grand total of 3 billion tons of steel. The industry's production capacity has expanded to a current annual figure of 128 million tons, and all indicators of long-range national and world requirements lead us to plan for continuing expansion in the years ahead.

Coming: A Century of still greater achievement

As we write this, steel is one of the best of all industries in which to work. The men and women in the steel plants enjoy average hourly earnings 25 per cent higher than the average for all manufacturing workers. Steelworkers have liberal pensions, insurance, paid holidays and paid vacations. Their opportunities for advancement are expanding constantly.

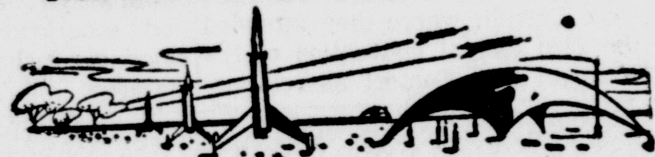

The past century has indeed been one of tremendous progress. But we have no illusions as to its relative place in history. The years that will transpire from this day until the time you read this message in 2056 will unfold, without question, as a century of still greater achievement in the application of steel to the service of mankind.

Today, when we look back just 50 years to predictions that were made for scientific, economic and social progress in America, we see that even the most imaginative ones failed to comprehend the magnitude of the progress that actually would take place; and we therefore anticipate that we, too, may prove to be conservative in whatever we foresee as to the kind of steel industry, the kind of America or the kind of world you will know in 2056.

We do believe strongly that you will be living in a still free and strong America, in a world in which the nations have become neighbors in the truest and finest sense of the word.

On the Way: New Steels for your miracle age

We know that in 1956 mankind already has embarked upon the jet age, the rocket age and the atomic age. We are already creating and producing special steels for these swiftly developing fields. We have not the slightest doubt that miraculous products and applications in these fields that are now on the fringes of our comprehension will be commonplace in less than 100 years.

The steel mills of future decades will come to use revolutionary new machines and systems that will achieve productivity far greater than our present levels. Moving beyond "automation" into "atomation," they will utilize sources of power, chemicals, electronic controls and varieties of materials that we are just beginning to investigate. And these vast facilities will continue the industry's diversification—we anticipate that their output will include plastics, titanium, chemical derivatives, and highly specialized steels that will constitute some 50 per cent of the total production.

Iron ore to finished products in one operation

We expect that the industry of 2056 will have moved all the way to a continuous operation instead of a batch-type process. Steel made by direct reduction of iron ore, using atomic energy. Iron ore will move in at one end of the plant and finished steel products will emerge at the other, with improved and simplified continuous processes such as soaking, conditioning, hot rolling, annealing, pickling and shearing. Extruding will largely have replaced rolling to produce the finished products. Order entry, production planning, mill scheduling, cost control, and production and shipment records all will be handled by an interlocking computer system.

What this will mean in your life in 2056

We can visualize our American cities as you will know them, with their great new structures of stainless steel above and below ground—far more magnificent and beautiful than the finest cities of our time. We foresee America's millions of families living in homes having year-round control of temperature; purified, germ-free air and push-button equipment that requires very little space at the same time it automatically takes care of virtually all household chores, making routine use of electronics, solar energy and atomic power. We look to these things because our laboratories already are working toward special steels that can be highly important in accelerating development in these fields.

We assume that the world will be a much smaller place to you than it is to us, even in what we like to call our air age. Your aircraft will carry you to the furthest side of the world in half an afternoon, flying at 5,000 to 10,000 miles an hour. You will have achieved human space travel, about which men of our time have dreamed and which now we can see coming closer to reality with each succeeding year. (Next year, the United States will launch what we expect will be the first man-made satellite—a steel ball some 20 inches in diameter, packed with communications instruments, that will circle the earth at 18,000 miles an hour.)

We are building toward your future now

We in the steel industry have more than ordinary reason to envision what lies ahead in global and space transportation because we are now developing steels to meet the once overpowering problem of 10,000-mile-an-hour air travel and the much faster space travel—steels that will resist the thermal barrier where air friction creates incredible heat, steels that will provide the tremendous tensile strength needed to keep craft from exploding in the near-vacuum of outer space.

In all, looking into the future with its vast increases in world population, broad upsurge in standards of living, constant widening of the uses of metals, and immense strides in manufacturing productivity, we believe it is entirely possible that the steel industry you know will have achieved a capacity of half a billion tons a year.

In 2056, as in 1956, human values above all else

Your accomplishments in technology notwithstanding, we feel certain that you will still be putting human values above all else. The most important part of every company still will be its people, and management's recognition of this fact will be reflected in progress in human relations just as dramatic as your progress in scientific invention.

And finally, we are sure that the word "frontier" will still be active in your vocabulary. As the iron and steel industry of 1956 looks ahead today, so you will be looking to new and greater horizons for the industry and the America of your day.

We salute you.

Shrimp Madero Is Delicacy

Mrs. Louella Phillips, Nearly 100, Plans 26th Florida Trip

Mrs. Louella Phillips of nearby Damascus, who will be 100 years old Nov. 17, is looking forward to another winter which she can spend in Florida. It will be her 26th trip to the sunshine state.

This engaging hostess likes shrimp served with a hot, spicy sauce in a rice ring. It can be served at both buffet tables and sit-down dinners.

Shrimp Madero
Two pounds shrimp, fresh or frozen; 6 dried red chili peppers (each about 4 1/2 inches long); 1 cup water; 1 cup vinegar; 1 teaspoon salt; 1/2 teaspoon oregano; 1 medium onion, sliced; 1/2 cup olive or salad oil.

Clean and cook shrimp. Split peppers and remove seeds and vein. Place on foil and broil gently 1 to 2 seconds. Do not let peppers burn.

Soak peppers 2 hours in water and vinegar. Pour soaked peppers with water-vinegar mixture into blender. Add salt, oregano, onion and oil. Blend about 2 minutes, or until well mixed.

Pour over shrimp. Chill in refrigerator overnight. Lift shrimp out of marinade and serve cold shrimp on a ring of hot rice.

Note: The red chili peppers called for are the Mirasol-type Mexican peppers, available in metropolitan areas in Mexican or Italian stores.

If not available, ground chili pepper may be substituted. When using ground chili pepper, use 3 tablespoons. Spread on foil and broil as suggested for the whole, dried peppers. Do not soak peppers. Put in blender with remaining ingredients. Continue as directed.

Lomas Shrimp
One pound shrimp, fresh or frozen; 2 tablespoons olive or salad oil; 1/4 cup chopped onion; 1 clove garlic, minced; 1/2 cup water; 2 tablespoons minced parsley; 1 tablespoon lemon juice; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Clean shrimp. Dry on paper toweling. Heat oil in a large skillet. Add shrimp, onion and garlic. Cook, stirring until onion is soft. Add remaining ingredients. Bring to boil. Serve immediately with saffron rice.

Working On Sunday Brings Conviction

NEW YORK (AP) — A 36-year-old photographer who painted his mother-in-law's house on a Sunday has been found guilty of violating the Sabbath law.

Magistrate George Postel gave Darwin Deen a suspended sentence on the charge Monday.

Postel said the law prohibits all work on Sunday except "for charity or necessity." He said that even if Deen owned the house "and did such work, it comes within the confines of the Sabbath law."

Deen's lawyer, an American Civil Liberties Union counsel, said he would appeal the conviction.

Crosley, Bendix To Be Discontinued

NEW YORK (AP) — Avco Manufacturing Corp. says it is quitting the home appliance field because of what it describes as "increasingly severe" competition.

The company announced Monday it will discontinue manufacturing its Crosley and Bendix home appliances.

Victor Emanuel, chairman and president, said the appliance industry is "plagued with large over-capacities and has been rampant with price-cutting despite rising costs of labor, material, and most other items."

Emanuel also said negotiations being concluded with a "major manufacturer" for the sale of the Bendix Division. He refused to identify the firm, but it was reported the firm involved was the Philco Corp.

In Philadelphia, a Philco spokesman declined to comment on the report. Other sources there said Philco had to wait until Avco disclosed the sale.

The Bendix Division manufactures automatic washers, dryers, ironers and combination washer-dryers. The Crosley Division makes refrigerators, freezers, radio-TV receivers and ranges.

Instead of the Crosley-Bendix appliances, Emanuel said Avco would concentrate on its more profitable activities in the field of civilian and military electronics, aircraft engines and parts, broadcasting and kitchen cabinets.

Phone Company Demands Law Enforcement In Portsmouth

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Officials of the struck Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. were expected to tell the state utilities commission today they will restore service to the Portsmouth area when "law and order" has been assured.

"The company is ready to re-open its Portsmouth area exchanges as soon as it has been demonstrated that the forces of law and order are in complete control and that violations of law will be dealt with promptly and effectively," said Clare E. Williams, company president.

The commission set noon today as a deadline for the company to file a plan for setting up emergency telephone service. A company spokesman said Williams' statement reflected the "plan" that would be submitted.

The statement was released shortly after last midnight at the end of a long session in company Atty. Sid Griffith's office here. It also said that:

1. The company "feels that attendance at any future meetings" with law enforcement officials would be "futile."
2. The company "rejects the offices of local and state officials as self-appointed mediators."
3. The company "will not accept a contract which contains union shop."
4. It "will not submit all issues to arbitration."
5. The company is "willing to submit the clause under disputed job classifications to the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) for adjudication by that body."

Eisenhower

to fit into the suddenly disrupted campaign schedule, but Hagerty said "everything will be decided on a day-to-day basis."

Eisenhower got the news of the Israeli attack Monday at the airport in Jacksonville, Fla., just after a campaign speech.

In that address he said America must remain militarily strong and at the same time must "give to our pursuit of peace our entire dedication." He alluded to efforts in Poland and Hungary to throw off Soviet domination, and added:

"At this particular stage of the world's history, where we see a once-proud people being trampled down by marching regiments, this is no time to stop the draft — this is no time to stop perfecting our weapons."

Crack At Stevenson

That clearly was another crack at proposals by his Democratic rival for the presidency, Adlai E. Stevenson, that (1) the United States take the lead in seeking world agreement to ban hydrogen bomb testing, and (2) thought be given to ending the military draft under conditions consistent with national security.

Earlier — before word came of the Israeli move — Eisenhower told an audience in Miami, Fla., that America must muster its "full moral power" to "direct the purposes of all nations away from conflict — and toward concord" in the Middle East.

After receiving news of the Israeli thrust, Eisenhower flew to Richmond, Va., for his final campaign talk of the day. He told an airport crowd there the word from the Middle East was "not good."

Then he recalled that last weekend he sent two urgent messages to Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion cautioning against any action that would "endanger the peace."

Senate

Democratic candidate for the Senate, said during a tour in western Ohio that he couldn't figure out why his opponent once changed his viewpoint on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

He said Sen. George H. Bender, the Republican incumbent, was against the Seaway "all his political life" until iron ore was discovered in Labrador.

"Then for some mysterious reason he changed his mind," Lausche said. The governor said he himself had been for the Seaway since 1941.

Industrial Picture Changed

Bender said previously he changed his mind and voted for the Seaway because of a change in the overall American industrial picture.

A statement from Bender's headquarters in Cleveland asserted — "the governor has demonstrated neither foresight nor diligence in using the funds voted a year ago by the people of Ohio for education and mental health purposes."

And in Norwalk Monday night, Bender asserted the Hungarian uprising is proof of the success of President Eisenhower's foreign policy.

He said a similar uprising in Poznan, Poland, last June, also gave evidence of the effectiveness of the administration's foreign policies.

From his Toledo headquarters, Michael V. DiSalle, the Democratic candidate for governor, issued a statement saying that although "Ohio leads the nation in highway construction and maintenance," he believes "more emphasis should be placed on improving the thousands of miles of state roads which link farms to farm markets."

DiSalle accompanied Sen. Keftau on his swing across the state. And while they were in Columbus Monday, DiSalle proposed that state employees be given better pay.

"In Toledo," he said, "we found that establishing a reasonable rate of pay for public employees enabled us to keep them" instead of losing them to private employment.

Would Tour Hospitals

His Republican opponent in the gubernatorial race, C. William O'Neill, told a rally in Massillon Monday night that if he is elected he will make a tour of Ohio's mental hospitals, penal and correctional institutions before his inauguration.

"I will take time to acquire a working knowledge of each institution and the people charged with the responsibility of administering it," said O'Neill.

Such visits, he asserted, would be "for the sole purposes of securing needed first-hand information."

O'Neill campaigned today in Cleveland with a full morning schedule of coffee parties.

He said in prepared speeches that he would "make the problems of Ohio's senior citizens a special project of the governor's office."

"We must revise certain of our programs for the aged which now exist," he said. "But in addition, we must completely re-evaluate our entire concept of old age."

O'Neill said he would organize an interdepartmental committee made up of state officials who work in the field where "we can do new things for the aged."

Milk Marketing Order To Raise Farm Income

CLEVELAND (AP)—Until a permanent revision can be considered, a temporary revision in the milk marketing order for the Cleveland milkshed may raise dairy farmers' incomes as much as $375,000 by Jan. 1, it is estimated by Jay W. Hartsock, manager of the Cleveland Milk Producers Federation.

The federation had asked for a permanent revision at hearings earlier this month.

Monday in Washington the Agriculture Department suspended a supply and demand clause in the marketing order. This clause specifies deductions of as much as 25 cents a hundredweight when the supply rises above normal.

The effect of the suspension was to remove a 25-cent reduction for November and December. A 13-cent reduction for October already had been suspended. Hartsock estimated the gain over the three-month period at $375,000.

Pricing formulas tied to the Cleveland price include the markets in Akron, Canton and Lima, Ohio, and Wheeling and Clarksburg, W. Va. As a result dairy farmers in those areas also will gain.

possible moment to negotiate with the Soviet government for complete withdrawal of the Russian army from Hungary.

A rebel-held radio at Miskolc said the street fighting erupted this morning. Reports from correspondents in the capital Monday night said some revolutionaries still were refusing to surrender their arms until the Russians leave.

Radio Budapest appealed to the capital's population "to be helpful" to the Russians in the promised withdrawal.

An earlier broadcast said the defiant young rebels in Budapest had reached an agreement with Premier Imre Nagy's government to lay down their arms by 9 a.m., and the Russians would leave within 24 hours.

Later the radio said "those armed groups which still are carrying out resistance should participate from 9 a.m. on, simultaneously with the cease-fire, in the re-establishment of calm and order."

The Budapest radio also called for all Communist party members in the city able to carry arms to assemble in party meeting places where new "protection units" were to be formed. This might mean the formation of a new Communist police force.

A broadcast also announced that all of Budapest's Danube River bridges "now can be used again by the population." The bridges had been under control of Russian units.

Rebel forces holding much of the Hungarian countryside urged that the arms surrender agreement announced in Budapest be disregarded.

Budapest's poorest tenement area, the teeming 8th and 9th District of Pest, Monday night was reported to be the site of a holdout by 100 rebels against the guns of Russian tanks. At least 100 tanks and armored cars were deployed around the slum district in the eastern part of the Danube-divided city.

Coupled with accounts of continued fighting in Budapest came reports that Russia was sending more troops into Hungary.

A correspondent for the Hungarian news agency MTI reported from Nyiregyhaza that Russian troop reinforcements were crossing the Soviet-Hungarian border at Zehony. He gave no indication of the number involved.

In London, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told Parliament the Russians were pouring more troops into Hungary.

Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov told reporters in Moscow Russian troops could be withdrawn from Hungary only by common agreement among members of the Warsaw Pact, the Soviet orbit's defense alliance. He said Russian troops had intervened in Hungary "in the spirit" of the pact.

Russia's Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov said Soviet troops would not be withdrawn from Budapest until the rebels surrender their arms.

Doctors at University Clinic in Budapest estimated there were between 10,000 and 15,000 casualties — mostly wounded — in seven days of fighting.

The U. S. Embassy in Vienna announced the arrival of more than half of 2,200 tons of gift food from the United States for Hungary and said the rest is on the way. Two American planes also were bringing 10,000 vials of penicillin supplied by the American Red Cross.

A British airlift of food and medicine went into its second day. Sixty-five tons of British supplies arrived in Vienna Monday and 51 tons were due today.

if the fighting got into the air it would tip the balance toward all-out war. The Egyptian air force lately has been reinforced by the arrival of Soviet jet fighters and bombers. The Israeli air force has French jets.

Israel's 1,800,000 population faced a blackout tonight.

It was the Cairo newspaper Al Messaa which reported Nasser had ordered general mobilization. There was no government confirmation.

Washington estimates are that 150,000 to 200,000 Israelis had been called up. Israel is believed capable of mobilizing an army of about 250,000.

Egypt, according to the estimates of outsiders, might be able to mobilize 500,000 men.

So far neither side had published any casualties in the fighting.

Two mechanized Israeli columns crossed the border Monday night. Israel said the expedition's purpose was to clean out bases of Egyptian commandos who have been raiding into Israel.

The first word of air activity came from Tel Aviv, an official there said Egyptian fighter planes had attacked Israeli troops in the Sinai, strafed an Israeli convoy in Israel's adjoining Negev Desert, causing some casualties, and shot down a small Israeli military observation plane.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the army had asked Premier David Ben-Gurion's government to order the Israeli air force into action in retaliation.

A war scare spread around the world, and Western diplomats reacted quickly.

The Arab nations surrounding Israel all have said they would regard an attack against one as an attack against all, raising the threat of a general renewal of the 1948 Palestine war.

There were these rapid-fire developments:

The U. N. Security Council was called into emergency session in New York.

In Washington, the White House said "we shall honor our pledge" to assist any victim of Middle East aggression, made jointly with Britain and France in a 1950 declaration. The U. S. 6th Fleet was reported in the eastern Mediterranean, within attack plane range of the Israeli-Egyptian border.

Britain also was described as standing fully behind the letter and spirit of the 1950 Big Three declaration.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau flew to London to confer with British government leaders on the crisis. French Premier Guy Mollet called the National Assembly into special session tonight to hear a statement from him on British-French policy in the Middle East.

Iraq Offers Troops

Iraq, Egypt's rival for leadership of the Arab world, offered troops to help the Egyptians. Iraqi forces already on the Jordan border could strike at Israel's north-east frontier at the opposite end of the country from the Egyptian front.

The Iraqi foreign minister warned the U. S. and British ambassadors and the French charge d'affaires that Iraq would go to war with Israel unless the attack on Egypt was halted.

Jordan's top government and military officials met hurriedly but a Jordan army spokesman said no request had been received yet from Egypt for aid.

Syria's army was alerted and a state of emergency was declared along the Syrian-Israeli frontier.

More than 450 American women and children were evacuated hastily from Israel, Jordan and Syria. They included 61 relatives of government employees in Tel Aviv, taken to Athens; 275 airlifted from Amman, Jordan, to Beirut, Lebanon; and 75 families who went from Damascus to Beirut.

Evacuees trying to leave Cairo were stranded when Egypt closed down the big airport to commercial flights.

There are some 8,000 Americans in Egypt, Israel, Jordan and Syria. The State Department Sunday urged all whose presence was not essential to leave immediately.

The Sinai Peninsula is a barren waste of sand and burning rock, inhabited only by nomads.

SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Cub Scout Pack 3

A night hike was the highlight of the Halloween party arranged for Pack 3 Cub Scouts Monday night at the Salem Country Club. About 70 cubs and parents were present.

A grand march was a feature of the program. Prizes went to Gregory Johnson and John Stratton for the most unusual costumes and to Eddie Gross and Bobby Moore for the most amusing costumes. Winners of the balloon chase were Paul Lau, Rollin Herron and Larry Roessler.

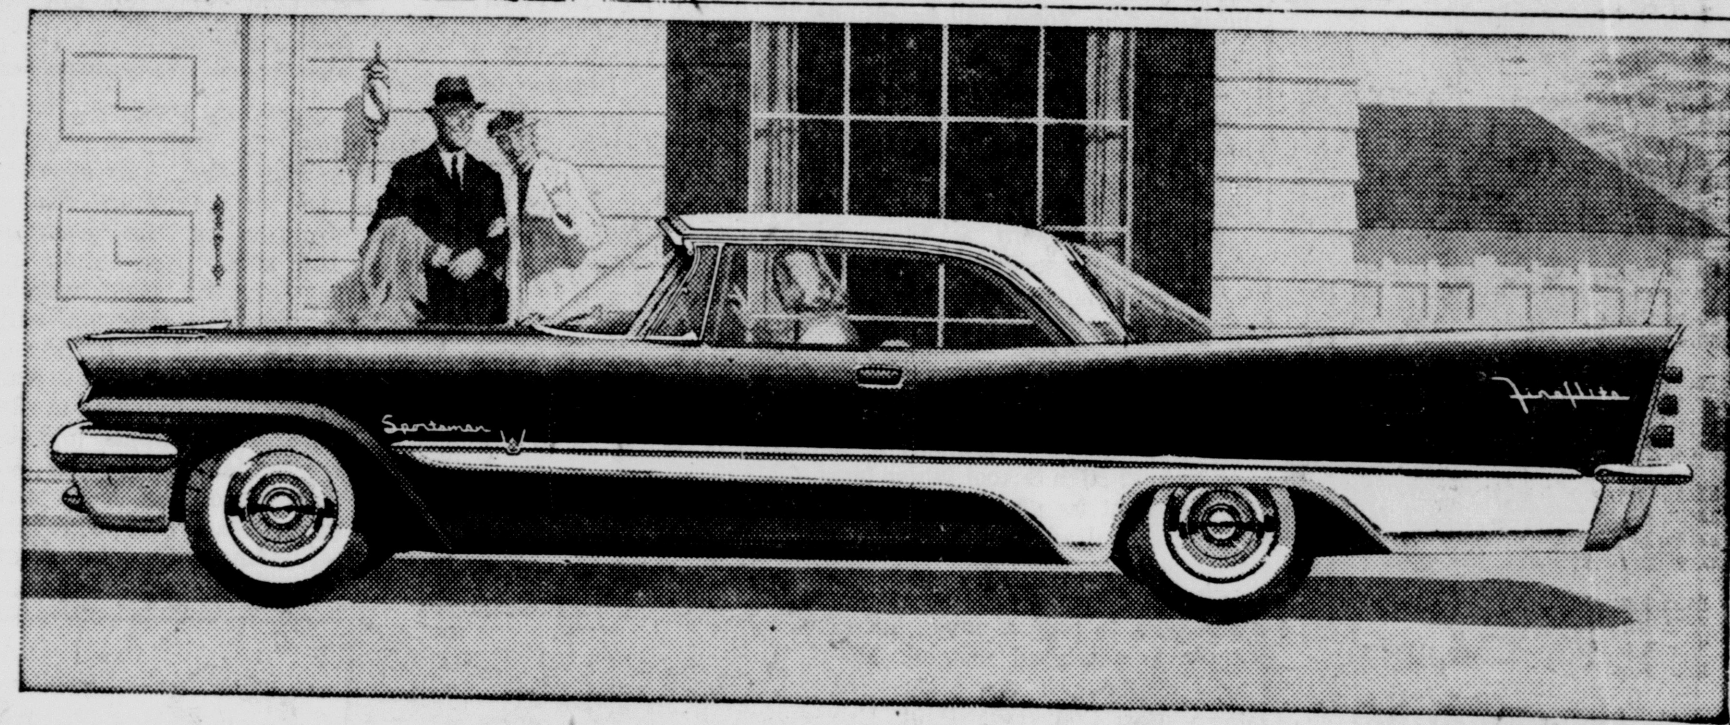

The club house was gaily decorated with pumpkins, ghosts and goblins made by the dens in the pack. Refreshments were served by the den mothers.

DEAN'S JEWELERS

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

There's a dentist in this area who is looking down in the mouth these days. His own mouth. He's being investigated by state officials for having extracted considerable money from a union health and welfare fund—some $224,000 in two years.

That's a lot of moolah to make from a molar, even if some of the work was forwarded to other dentists.

The dentist's name is Dr. Edmund Carp. And there is nothing here intended to insinuate that there was anything illegal about all these extractions.

The special investigating committee of the Massachusetts State Legislature just wants to know how much money could have been pulled out of the welfare funds covering two small locals of the Hod Carriers and Common Laborers Union.

In 1955, Dr. Carp received $135,000 from the Health and Welfare Building Industry Fund. The simple arithmetic of which I'm capable says that this comes to some $2,600 a week during that year.

On a five-day week, if working exclusively for the common laborers, this would be over $50 a day.

THE COMMITTEE, spurred by Sen. Francis X. McCann, wants to know just how this could be done. Mr. McCann is a union member himself, paying dues to the International Association of Machinists.

Mr. McCann rightly thinks of himself as bound by his own association to be a guardian of the dollars of hard working union people. And he feels that the legality of Dr. Carp's fees does not obviate the fact that $24,000 is a lot of money for dental bills.

Sen. McCann's crusading is hitting more resistance than the waves of the Atlantic on nearby rockribbed coasts. He's had difficulty finding the administrator of this fund.

He's been stymied in his efforts to learn what the benefits are for these good people whose lot it is to dig ditches and work with their broad shoulders and who deserve the full benefits of every welfare dollar in their union's kitty.

THE LEGISLATIVE hearings have to be held under state police guard because of threats made by phone.

I report all this to show you what the problem is, not only here but the nation over, in keeping a watch on billions of dollars in welfare and pension funds.

Sen. McCann, for example, now is looking into the handling of some 18 million dollar in welfare funds. This is just a fist-full of change compared to the total value of such funds in all of Massachusetts—where there are some 2 billion dollars in all.

And there are some 36 billion dollar in such labor-management welfare funds across the land—considerably more than the 20 billion dollars in the U.S. Government's Old Age Social Security funds.

All this will bear considerable hawking, for the easy-money boys have not taken a holiday. From their point of view, why should they?

There aren't many Sen. McCanns around the countryside. And if there were, there would not be any funds for their probes.

SEN. MCCANN REPORTS to say that he will soon run out of money for further investigations.

This is the same blight which dried up the U.S. Senate investigating committee headed by Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois last year. It was Sen. Douglas who pointed out the fact that some of these funds—some snatches reaching as high as $900,000.

He dispatched his information to the prosecutors of five states. I've just checked each state and have found that not one of them has moved on the data he sent on.

The only action taken recently against welfare fund manipulators has been by the U.S. and not by state authorities. The other day, in Chicago, a Federal Grand Jury indicted Angelo (The Cisco Kid) Inciso, head of Local 286, the United Industrial Workers Union, on charges of mismanagement of his union's health and welfare fund.

INCISO WAS LAVISH in his gifts of diamonds and other favors, according to the Douglas report, which was the basis for the indictment.

This being election time the local politicians, I presume, don't want anyone to pin an "anti-labor" tag on them. So they don't prosecute. But they may be embarrassed. AFL-CIO president George Meany has sent letters to all of the unions discussed in the Douglas report demanding that they clean up. If they don't, Mr. Meany will seek to expel them at the next AFL-CIO convention.

It would be ironic to see Mr. Meany take a chance on losing a union while state authorities are fearful of losing a vote.

Any Questions?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Some critics of this civilization say it is one in which men and women are getting too much alike.

There is no doubt the sexes are acting more alike every year as the result of modern woman's compulsion to share every right formerly held by man alone.

They talk alike—if anything men are a bit more interested in household topics, while women lean more to baseball and politics; and often dress alike, particularly in their leisure hours. The two-pants suit may be out of date, but now that wives have discovered the comfort of slacks the two-pants family is right in style.

Worst of all, men and women are even beginning to look alike, most markedly in the younger generation. Only a teen-ager today can look at another teen-ager and tell at a glance what gender it is.

However, there is no reason yet to get hysterical. A Careful impartial observer can always distinguish between the sexes.

Here are a few ways in which you can tell whether any human being is a man or woman, no matter what it wears, what it says, or how it cuts its hair:

If it goes through a revolving door without lifting an arm, it's a woman. If it does its fair share of pushing, it's a man.

If in a poker game it says, "cover your cards, dope, I can see them," it's a man. If it can see every card in your hand and keeps right on looking, it's a woman.

If paying its bills gives it a sense of security, it's a man. If running up bills gives it a feeling of freedom, it's a woman.

If it always offers you a cigar, it's a man. If it always is asking you for a cigarette, then waits for a light, it's a woman.

If it sees a fly buzzing in a spider's web and brushes the insect free, it's a man. If, instead, it watches to see how the spider operates its trap, it's a woman.

If it always takes the first seat offered by a restaurant headwaiter, it's a man. If it never accepts the first seat and is sure another location would be better, it's a woman.

If it always climbs into a taxi ahead of you, it's a woman. If it always pays the cab driver when it gets out, it's a man.

If it asks you to dance, it's a man. If it gets mad because you don't ask it to dance, it's a woman.

If it crosses its legs without noticing whether anyone is looking, it's a man. If it won't cross its legs unless someone is looking, it's a woman.

If it backs up to you and asks you to fix a stuck zipper, it's a woman. If it sternly and silently solves its zipper problems by itself, it's a man.

If it will give a two-bit handout to any seedy tramp, it's a man. But if it gladly spends its whole life cooking and raising kids for a no-good ungrateful bum, it's a woman—every time!

Any questions?

Canton McKinley 3 Games Away From 2nd Straight Title

Mansfield Takes Over 2nd Place

Massillon Eases To 5th In AP Voting

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Canton McKinley's Bulldogs were just three victories away today from their second straight Ohio high school football championship, and a second leg on the coveted Rutgers Hall of Fame trophy emblematic of the title.

The champs go against Toledo Scott, which boasts a 5-1 record and a 153-55 scoring edge, in Friday night's contest; against Akron South, Nov. 10, a team with a 4-2-1 record and a 70-65 scoring mark; and then Massillon Nov. 17 on the latter's field.

Unless one of the three pops up with an upset, the Bulldogs appear to be "in." Massillon has a 6-1-1 record, losing to Mansfield, but they always throw the records away when the Bulldogs and Tigers clash in their season-ending free-for-all.

McKinley was the only team to hold its place this week in the Associated Press poll of 56 sports writers, and even it dropped 66 poll points from last week.

Mansfield whipped Sandusky 16-6 to take over second place, trading spots with Fremont Ross despite the fact the latter handed Lorain its first defeat, 14-13. Cleveland St. Ignatius jumped from fifth to fourth with a 26-7 win over John Marshall. Eat Cleveland Shaw dropped from fourth to sixth, although a 26-0 winner over Parma, and Massillon eased from sixth to fifth by trimming Warren, 26-6.

Youngstown Ursuline, a convincing 28-0 victor over Youngstown North although using reserves the last half, dropped from seventh to eighth, at Troy, 26-19 winner over Fairborn, leaped from last to seventh.

Two newcomers, Cleveland Benedictine and Cincinnati Purcell, grabbed the last two berths as Lorain fell from eighth and Jackson skidded although winning 25-0 over Middleport. Cleveland Benedictine has been beaten twice, but Purcell has loomed this season as the southwest's best.

From here and there: Canton McKinley was held to its lowest score of the year in beating Alliance 21-7—the same score by which Youngstown Ursuline triumphed over the Aviators. Wayne Fontes, McKinley's right halfback, scored twice against Alliance to run his scoring total to 102—the best in Stark County.

Jim Lindner of East Palestine's seven-game winners tallied three touchdowns and three conversions in the 41-0 win over Poland, giving him 139 points for the campaign. But Jim Cremins of Rutland, which defeated Belpre 53-6 to clinch the Southeastern Ohio League title with seven straight, has 150 points for the year.

Springfield scored four touchdowns and booted four extra points in whipping Columbus Central 28-13. Against Hamilton the Wildcats missed one of two conversions and settled for a 13-13 tie, and against Middletown they missed three straight to lose 19-18—the only blemishes on the seven-game chart.

Marietta was blanked for the first time this year as Lancaster won 13-0, with Larry Baughman, fullback, getting all 13 points and three stitches in his tongue. He suffered the injury when he bit his tongue as he intercepted a pass and raced 46 yards for a score. The Gale lost Rich Bradford, their brilliant halfback for the season. The youngster, who had chalked up 15 touchdowns and 7 extra points, tore a cartilage in his knee.

Mount Vernon, with a 7-0 record, won its first Central Buckeye League championship since 1948 by beating Urbana 40-6. In six previous games, Urbana had been scored on only twice. Worthington, also with a 7-0 mark, won the Mid-Six League laurels.

Springfield Catholic, which last won its first six games, the last five by shutouts, was smacked 34-13 by Hamilton Catholic Sunday.

Long runs were featured as Massillon got back on the winning trail by beating Warren 26-6. Wally Armour returned a punt 46 yards for Warren's score, but Jim Bivins went 61, Chester Brown 40 and Ivory Benjamin 65 for the Tigers.

Quarterback Bernie Allen of East Liverpool has thrown eight passes to Jack Dopler this season, completing seven, of which six went for touchdowns. The latest was against Martins Ferry, in a 55-6 romp, giving Dopler 18 touchdowns for the year. Allen has thrown 11 scoring passes, and against Perry booted East Liverpool's first field goal since 1946.

Fremont eked out its 17th straight in the 14-13 win over Lorain, with Jim Tiller getting both touchdowns to run his total to 19. He scored one on a 46-yard pass play, the other on a 92-yard kickoff return. Coach Mal Mackey of Fremont, still sidelined with a heart attack, has turned the team

Lopez To Manage White Sox In '57

By JOE MOOSHL

CHICAGO (AP) — Al Lopez, ex-Cleveland manager who made a career of finishing second to the New York Yankees, and the perennial third place Chicago White Sox joined forces Monday.

Lopez accepted a one-year contract offered by Vice President Chuck Comiskey to manage the White Sox in 1957. Lopez resigned as Cleveland manager Sept. 29 after guiding the Tribe to second place five times since 1951.

In 1954, the Tribe won the pennant under Lopez with an American League record of 111 victories. Lopez, one of baseball's "nice guy" managers, succeeds Marty Marion who bowed out last week as manager of the White Sox.

Meanwhile, Cleveland boss Hank Greenberg went to Los Angeles to talk with Leo Durocher, former manager of the New York Giants. Durocher, who once said "nice guys don't win pennants," has indicated he would manage Cleveland if the price is right.

Lopez broke into baseball in 1925 and was a catcher with Brooklyn, Boston and Pittsburgh in the National League. In 1947, he played in 57 games with Cleveland. His major league lifetime batting average was .261.

He managed Indianapolis of the American Assn. to a pennant in 1948 and finished second in both 1949 and 1950. He then took over at Cleveland.

Comiskey, in making the announcement, said "I long have been an admirer of Lopez on and off the field. I think he did an outstanding job at Cleveland and I hope he'll do as well for us. He was the only man considered for the job and he accepted by wire from his home in Florida."

Comiskey would not reveal Lopez' salary but said it would amount to the same he received at Cleveland. Lopez also will be given the right to name his own coaches.

At Tampa, Lopez said he was "tickled to death" over being selected and began talking of a possible pennant for the White Sox.

"The Yankees are a good ball club," said Lopez, "but they can be had. The White Sox have a chance to go all the way in '57. 'Speed is Chicago's biggest asset,'" said Lopez. "Hitting is not bad — it's pretty good."

"We will try to improve the club wherever we can," he continued.

over to assistant Bob Seale—who claims John Level, junior fullback is one of the state's top defensive players.

Bellaire St. John's Central, drawing Catholic boys from all over Belmont county, has rolled over six opponents to the tune of 157-18. A big game in that sector comes up Nov. 17, when St. John's play Steubenville Central, winner over East Liverpool.

Injuries End Aspirations Of Many Stars

By BOB HOOBING

The Associated Press

Injuries like the one which ended the football career of Michigan State halfback Clarence Peaks are wrecking many an All America aspiration and team record these days.

The versatile Peaks, prime mover of the Spartans' multiple offense, suffered a torn cartilage in his left knee during Illinois' 20-13 upset last week and must undergo surgery.

How Michigan State, rated fourth in the latest Associated Press poll, will fare without him is uncertain though the talent at East Lansing is plentiful. It is sure, however, that the injury robbed one of the nation's finest backs of All America consideration.

A full season is necessary to judge a player's ability under all conditions.

Among other victims of the game's who snap shoulders, wrench knees and twist ankles on crisp autumn days are Oklahoma linemen Wayne Greenlee and Ken Northcutt, Vanderbilt quarterback Don Orr, Army halfback Gene Mikelonis, Baylor's Doyle Traylor and California end Ron Wheatcroft.

End Dave Kaiser, who kicked the winning field goal, and halfback Walt Kowalczyk, who had televisioners goggle-eyed during the Rose Bowl game in January, are Michigan State casualties in addition to Peaks. Both have been slowed by foot and ankle miseries. Tackle Pat Burke may be lost for the year.

Indiana's hope for much-needed speed evaporated when Barry Johnson got a broken leg in pre-season workouts.

Dartmouth end Monte Pascoe (hand) and Yale fullback Gene Coker (hip) are unlikely to appear again this season.

Bob Mitchell, the kid who ruined Michigan a year ago as a sophomore, never has been up to par for Illinois this season with knee trouble and teammate Harry Jefferson has been out two weeks.

Ohio State had great plans for Hubert Bobo, the fullback sensation of 1954 who was ineligible last season and converted to end upon his reinstatement. A knee sprain ruined "the comeback."

Memorial Building Cage Entry Fees Are Set

Plans for the forthcoming season were discussed when basketball and volleyball meetings were held Monday night at the Memorial Building.

Representatives of both leagues heard Charley Tomlinson, assistant director of the Memorial Building, give talks on rules and entry fees.

The entry fee for basketball teams this year will be: Class A, $50; Class B, $25; and Girls League, $15. The fees are the same as last year.

Entry fees for volleyball teams will be voted on at the next meeting.

Tomlinson urged prospective sponsors of teams to contact him.

Ron Kramer May Play Halfback On Saturday

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Ron Kramer, an All-America end candidate, may make his debut as a right halfback for Michigan against Iowa Saturday.

The 6-foot-3, 216-pound wingman will work out this week at the spot vacated by the injured Terry Barr, coach Bennie Oosterbaan revealed Monday.

While Kramer has no game experience at the spot, he spent much of spring practice in the backfield.

Bar suffered a seriously sprained left ankle in scoring Michigan's only touchdown in Saturday's 20-7 loss to Minnesota.

Sooners Again Rated No. 1

Georgia Tech 2nd, Tennessee 3rd

By DON WEISS

The Associated Press

Oklahoma's one-week exile from the top spot in college football is over. To the surprise of no one, a 40-0 walloping of whipping boy Notre Dame coupled with Michigan State's loss to Illinois regained for the powerful Sooners the No. 1 ranking in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The weekend activities, in which form suffered its worst relapse of the season, drew out the heaviest vote of the year from the nation's sports writers and sportscasters.

Roughly 77 per cent, 143 out of 186, named Bud Wilkinson's Sooners first. Among other contenders, only Georgia Tech, which moved up to second, and Tennessee, now third, got more than a handful of first-place support.

Tech was named first on 31 ballots after making Tulane its fifth straight victim 40-0. Tennessee, also 5-0, drew eight first-place votes.

Michigan State, which displaced Oklahoma a week ago as the national leader after a 47-14 whacking of Notre Dame, slipped back to fourth place with nary a top vote. Last week, the Spartans had 96.

On the basis of 10 for first, 9 for second, etc., Oklahoma wound up with 1,768 points, Georgia Tech with 1,614, Tennessee with 1,302 and Michigan State with 1,029.

Behind them the shuffling continued as a result of Texas A&M's 19-13 victory over Baylor, Ohio State's 21-0 victory over Wisconsin, Iowa's 21-20 squeaker over Purdue, Minnesota's 20-7 upset of Michigan, Miami of Florida's 14-0 victory over TCU and Stanford's 27-19 victory over Southern California.

The Aggies moved up to fifth, followed by Ohio State, Iowa, Minnesota, Miami and Stanford.

The top teams with first-place votes in parentheses:

U. S. Raises Huge Fund For Olympics

CHICAGO (AP) — Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, president of the U. S. Olympic Committee, said Monday "Our Olympic team will be the best we've ever sent" and "we'll have enough money to send our team to Melbourne in style."

Speaking at the quarterback club, Wilson said "the bright spot of the Olympic is how the fan have rallied behind it." Wilson said when all the contributions are in the fund will go over the million dollar mark.

Wilson gave the following breakdown of some of the donations: $168,000 from track and field try-outs; $45,000 from swimming try-outs; $360,000 from contributions at last year's football games, and $160,000 from a razor manufacturing firm (Gillette).

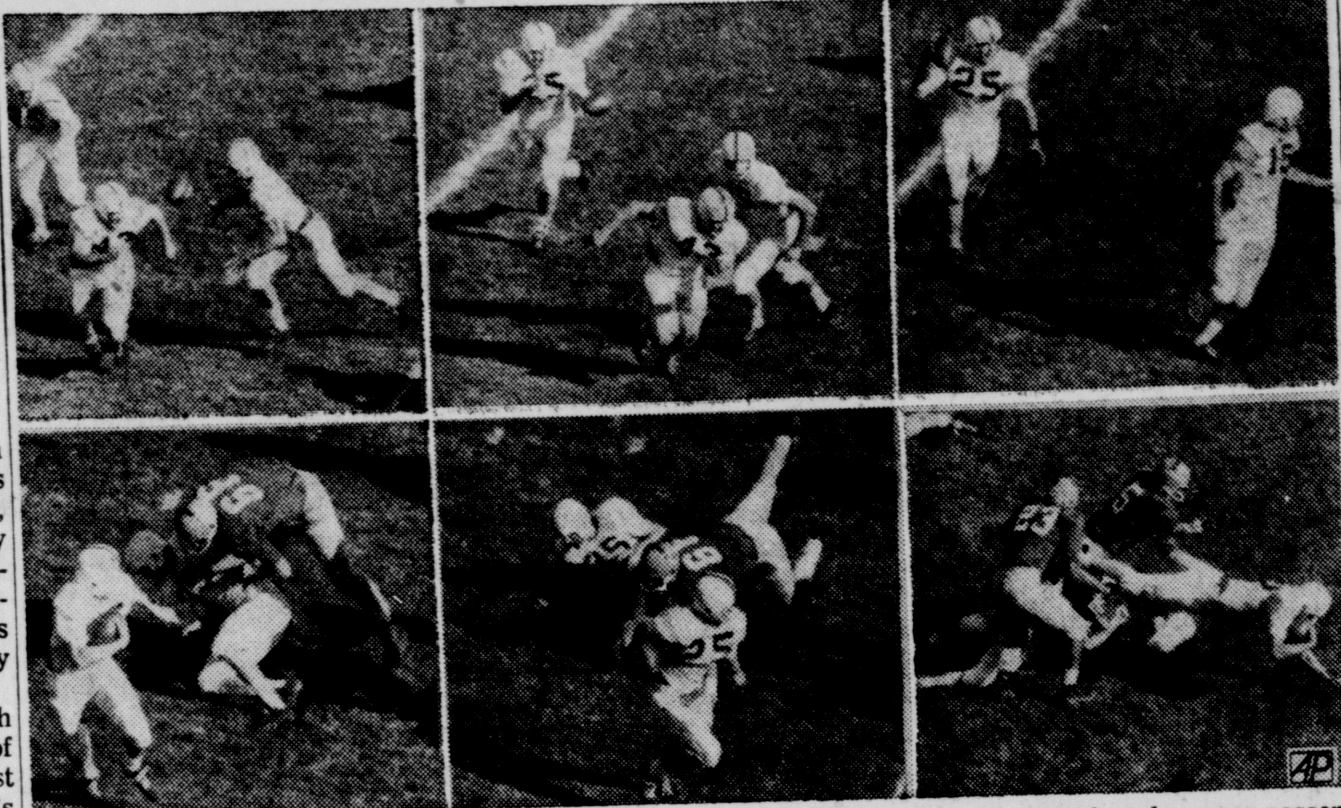

"Contributions from this year's football games and other collections should put us over the million dollar mark," Wilson added.

Hungarian Olympic Team Flies To Games

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The Hungarian Olympic team has left Budapest by plane en route to the games at Melbourne beginning Nov. 22, the International Olympic Committee announced today.

The committee Monday had appealed to Hungary through the Swiss legation in revolt to turn Budapest to arrange an "Olympic truce" to permit the athletes to leave for Melbourne with safe conduct from both the government and the rebels.

E. Palestine To Seek Eighth Win In A Row

The Tri-County League champion East Palestine Bulldogs will go after their eighth straight victory when they travel to Louisville to play the Leopards Friday night.

Kick-off time is set for 7:45.

Olympic Timekeeper Arrives For Games

By GORDON TAIT

MELBOURNE, Australia. (AP) — The Olympics' streamlined "father time" reached Melbourne today ready for the games starting Nov. 22.

He is Charles Sickert of Switzerland, official timekeeper for the games.

Five hundred pieces of highly specialized timing equipment have come with him.

Eventually Sickert will be joined by nine experts who will help in timing the game.

A clock camera is their greatest pride. Developed specially for the Helsinki games, it automatically photographs each contestant in the race finish and records his time to one hundredth of a second.

"But even split second timing like that is becoming out of date," said Sickert. "In Switzerland, we are experimenting with a machine seeking accuracy to one ten thousandth part of a second. If perfected, it could be used to time anything from flies crawling up a wall to jet bombers."

Cleveland Rookie Holds Hockey Scoring Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Boris (Bo) Elik, amazing rookie of Cleveland's entry in the American Hockey League, continued to hold his lead in the race for scoring honors today.

Elik, scoring five points last week, maintained his league lead with 14 points and continued to hold his edge among the top goal-getters with nine. Teammate Fred Glover and Bruce Cline of Providence took runnerup honors with 11 points.

Statistics, including games through Sunday, also showed that the league-leading Cleveland club has the most proficient assist man, Jimmy Moore, who holds down the No. 1 position with eight. Moore is tied for fourth in scoring with Willie Marshall of Hershey and Paul Larvive of Providence, all with 11 points.

Wagering during the 50-day harness racing meet at Freehold, N.J., reached a new high of $8,699,367 during 1956. The increase was 31 per cent above 1955.

Slow Norkus Scores Win Over Joe Rowan

NEW YORK (AP) — Charley Norkus, one of the more promising heavies of a few seasons back, has begun his comeback with a victory — but an unimpressive one.

Norkus, a 28-year-old blond from Port Washington, N. Y., managed to puff through to a 10-round decision over Joe Rowan of Phoenixville, Pa., in a televised bout at St. Nicholas arena Monday night.

Norkus, 195½, fighting for only the third time in two years, was sluggish at the start against Rowan, 185, and tired in the last round. But he showed enough in the middle rounds to win a unanimous vote from the official in a generally dull bout. Judges Bert Grant and Mike Davidowitch scored it 6-4 and referee Al Berl 5-4-1. The AP count was 6-4 for Norkus.

Israel May Drop Out Of Olympic Games

MELBOURNE (AP) — Lt. Gen. Sir William Bridgeford chief executive officer of the Olympic Games, said today Israel might have to withdraw from the games because of the mid-East situation.

He said warring nations are debarred from participation and if Israel and Egypt are considered to be at war, Israel will not be allowed to compete. Egypt withdrew from the game earlier this month.

Los Angeles Rams Now Using TV Coaching During Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — First it was short-wave radio coaching of quarterbacks equipped with receivers in their helmets. Now comes coaching by television to the sidelines.

The professional Los Angeles Rams football team is trying it. The Rams' pass defense coach, Jack Faulkner, explained it this way today:

"It's the Rams' new 'closed circuit' TV gimmick. With this, an assistant coach, located up in the press box, can diagram plays and make adjustments down on the field, where they are picked up on a 17-inch monitor.

"The players gather 'round and see the whole picture in a nutshell — or in a mahogany case, to be exact.

"Not only can the press box coach talk to the players on the field as he diagrams changing coverage, but the players watching their TV screen can ask questions by way of a two-way audio.

Faulkner added: "We're constantly adjusting defensive formations, and I personally talk to Les Richter over the set every time he comes off the field. We discuss what coverage is holding up... and make on-the-spot defensive switches, as we did in the second quarter Sunday when I diagrammed where the players should line up and changed coverage for the check pass Detroit was throwing."

Softball Association Elects Jim Baxter

Officers were elected Monday night when the Salem Softball Association met at the Memorial Building.

They are: President, Jim Baxter; vice president, Lee Hahn; secretary, Ruth May; treasurer, Dan Rayniak; and executive secretary, Dave Briskin.

Association directors are Peanuts Debnar, one year; Ralph Mancuso, two years; and Dave Briskin, three years.

The new officers will start their duties Jan. 1.

Hayes Picks Leo Brown As Tops On Team

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Despite the offensive heroics of sophomore Don Clark of Akron, Coach Woody Hayes nominates Leo Brown of Portsmouth—the smallest end in the Big Ten—as the most consistent player Ohio State has offered in its first five football games.

Brown, who stands only 5 feet 10 and weighs 168, has scored only one touchdown. He blocked a punt, recovered the ball and ran it back 34 yards for a score against Nebraska.

But Hayes described him Monday, at his weekly press luncheon, as the "most consistent performer on the team, on both offense and defense."

Brown, a junior, is the team's leading pass snatcher, catching four of the nine which have been completed, and racing 117 yards with them.

"He's a little fellow, but he's a mighty big man on that football field," Hayes said.

The Buckeye mentor tagged Tom Dillman, senior center from Middletown, as the best all-around player in Saturday's 21-0 romp over Wisconsin. "He was at his best defensively, but his offensive work has improved tremendously," Hayes said. "He sat on the bench for two years, but he refused to become discouraged, and now he's come into his own."

Hayes also had pats on the back for Clark, who ran over, around and through the Badgers, and for sophomore tackle Dick Schafraht of Wooster, who this week moved up to a starting berth on the left side.

"I predict that Schafraht, who is 6-2 and weighs 210, will become one of the best tackles Ohio State has ever produced," Woody said.

"He isn't there yet, but with two years to go he'll be a great one."

With Northwestern, Indiana, Iowa and Michigan—all Big Ten foes — coming up on successive weekends, Hayes today closed practices to all except sports writers. The scribes were required to wear red team jerseys and remain in a group.

Hayes explained he was "putting in some new stuff" for the stretch drive toward an unprecedented third straight Western Conference crown, and wanted no "tip-offs to the opposition."

Northwestern—with a one-point win over Iowa State, losses to Tulane, Michigan and Indiana, and a tie with Minnesota in the first five games—doesn't figure to keep the Bucks from setting a new consecutive victory record of 16 in the Big Ten.

But Gene Fekete, who scouted the Wildcats through their last three games, warned that Ara Parseghian, last year of Miami, has welded the Northwesterns into a versatile, spirited team which may be dangerous.

Hayes chimed in with: "And last Saturday's losses by Michigan and Michigan State prove that any Big Ten team is liable to beat any other Big Ten team at any time."

Football Briefs

CHICAGO (AP) — Midwest Football Briefs: Illinois — Sophomore Bill Ofenbecher, instrumental in Illinois' 20-13 upset victory over Michigan State, was made No. 1 quarter-back for the Illini who opened preparations for Purdue.

Minnesota — Gopher first stringers were given a day off after a short drill.

Ohio State — The Buckeyes aren't taking Northwestern lightly. Ohio State can set a new record of 16 straight Big Ten triumphs if it nips Northwestern.

Indiana — A light drill and movies of their 19-13 victory over Northwestern was all for the Hoosiers. Halfback Jim Powell and guard Don Howell suffered ankle sprains, neither serious.

Purdue — Five linemen and fullback Mel Dillard were sidelined with injuries. Others injured were end Lamar Lundy, guard Ed Boytek, tackle Nick Mumley, tackle Wayne Farmer and guard Jim Shea.

Hammer A Hair Light, Record Toss Eliminated

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Harold Connolly, whose mighty toss Saturday won't count because his hammer was too light by perhaps the weight of an insect, says: "It doesn't matter to me. I'll break the record again Thursday."

He and other members of the U.S. Olympic team hold their last practice meet then before leaving for the games in Australia.

Connolly hurled the hammer 224 feet 8 1/4 inches during a practice meet at nearby Santa Ana, bettering the 20-10% mark made last week by Mikhail Krivososov of Russia.

The hammer was weighed Monday and found to be five-eighths of an ounce light.

Dick Garibaldi, 225-pound 6 foot 4 athlete, is playing basketball at Santa Clara after two years in the service.

cars ARE MY Line
by Al Parker
A LOOK AT THE FUTURE
The experts are guessing that in ten years or perhaps a little longer, the automobile will undergo its greatest change in 50 years.

That change will be in the introduction of the gas turbine engine, the first basic alteration in the automobile power plant since the gasoline internal combustion engine triumphed over the steam and electric cars of the early 1900's.

The internal combustion engine, with its numerous cylinders, pistons bouncing up and down, is about to go out the window. This new engine, when it comes, will eliminate the necessity for the radiator, anti-freeze, the gear box, "tune-ups", regular lubrication, and instead of six or eight spark plugs, will have only one (and that is used only in starting.)

The basic idea is simple. A roaring tube of flame and expanding gases at about 4,000 degrees is thrust against a pin wheel—which makes the pin wheel revolve like crazy.

And there is your motive power. The power of the revolving turbine can be transmitted directly to the rear wheels without the problems (solved by the fly wheel today) of converting the up-and-down jerks of the pistons into smooth revolutions of the wheels.

This smooth, simple and economical source of power will be introduced when the problems of mass-production have been licked. Right now, the carefully balanced parts of the gas turbine engine have to be hand-crafted. This is all right in the car business, where the turbine has been used for years, but you can't afford this expense in making cars.

No matter how cars are moved, by pistons, by turbines, or by infuriated drivers pushing from behind, we expect to be around offering people the advice and service to keep driving safe, comfortable and economical. You have to keep up-to-date in the car business, but there is value for you — in the fact that we've retained "old fashioned" personal service, too.

We've got a salesman who can't decide who is true love is. We'll tell you about him in our next column.

Adlai Says Ike Withholds Truth

Stevenson Cites New Middle East Crisis

BOSTON (AP) — Adlai Stevenson contended today that President Eisenhower has endangered the peace by withholding "the whole truth" about tragic developments abroad.

Stevenson cited the new crisis in the Middle East as an example.

He pursued this theme as he carried forward his final week's drive for votes with scheduled speeches in Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania after a roaring reception Monday night in Boston's Mechanics Hall.

Taking note of news that Israeli's military forces had struck across the Egyptian frontier toward the Suez Canal, the Democratic standard bearer said it was hard to speak "about today's ominous and confusing developments in the Middle East."

"But I must say this — and it is only to repeat what I have been saying throughout this campaign," he said. "The government in Washington has been telling us that all is well in the world, that there is peace, that there is — as the President announced only a few days ago — 'good news' from the Middle East."

"These reassurances — as today's news confirms — have been tragically less than the truth. The world we walk on is mined with trouble from Korea to the Straits of Gibraltar, and we're entitled to be trusted. 'We've got to be trusted. We've got to be ready to meet our problems, to face them squarely and make the right decisions. How can we unless we are told the truth?'"

"Instead, during four years of critical history, we've been patted on the back and patted on the head and told that everything's all right. This is dangerous — dangerous to our very survival in a troubled world."

Stevenson campaigns today in Baltimore, Camden, N.J., and Philadelphia.

He winds up the day with a major address at 8:30 p.m. on the University of Pennsylvania campus.

He found a receptive audience in Boston in the jam-packed hall where Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy shared the platform with him along with Foster Furcolo, the party's candidate for governor.

In his Boston speech he continued to argue that Eisenhower has virtually abdicated his leadership, but conceded his campaigning ability.

Departing from his prepared address, he said of Eisenhower: "As a campaigning politician, there is none better, but it is as a president who knows how to control his party, who knows how to grasp the reins of government that I believe he fails."

Ike's Home Town Paper Sure He'll Win Again

ABILENE, Kan. (AP) — The Abilene Reflector-Chronicle, which calls itself "Ike's real home town newspaper," has offered to make a small bet with the Denison (Tex.) Herald on President Eisenhower's re-election.

The Herald has come out editorially for Adlai Stevenson.

Eisenhower was born in Denison but his parents moved to Abilene when he was about a year old.

Henry B. Jameson, editor and publisher of the Reflector-Chronicle, offered to bet a year's subscription and wired Denison:

"We supported Ike four years ago and are stronger than ever behind him today in the sincere belief his continuing in office is for the best interest of the country."

Groundbreaking Set For Malone College

A groundbreaking ceremony is set Sunday afternoon at 3 on the site of the Malone College in Canton.

For several years in operation in Cleveland as the Cleveland Bible College, the newly-formed Malone College will have administrative offices in Canton.

A 50-acre tract of land was purchased from Stark County by the college early this year. The cost of the project is estimated to total between $1,400,000 and $2,000,000.

The first unit will include the administration building, library, education wing, and music building. The second unit will be a girls' dormitory.

Officials say the college should be ready for operation in September, 1957 when the two units are slated for completion.

Byron L. Osborne, president of the college will preside during Sunday's ceremony. Joseph T. Nist, Stark County commissioner, will participate.

A building committee selected to expedite work on the structures includes S. L. Huffman, general manager of Station WCMW; J. L. Larimer, vice president of the Knowles Construction Co. of Bellefontaine; and Osborne. Consulting members are Arnold Peterson of Cleveland, the architect, and C. L. Strand of Canton, a building contractor.

Following the groundbreaking Sunday, footers will be placed while specifications are being distributed to contractors for bidding. The contracts will be awarded in about two months.

Rev. Harold Winn, pastor of the Salem First Friends Church, and several members of the local church will attend Sunday's ceremony.

Thief Keeps In Practice During Recess Of Court

CLEVELAND (AP) — What did Robert E. Crawford do while he was out on bond during the week-end recess of his court trial on a charge of armed robbery? Police said he stole a truckload of copper from the E. 55th Street-Harvard yard of the Cleveland Transit System.

Crawford changed his plea to guilty when the armed robbery trial resumed today.

Crawford, 32, pleaded guilty to the $225 holdup of a grocery store last Feb. 11. Today was the third day of his trial on that charge. Sentenced to a 10-to-25 year term in the Ohio Penitentiary, Crawford pleaded with Judge Felix T. Matia not to declare him an habitual offender.

Judge Matia told Crawford his habitual criminal status depended on the decision of the CTS whether or not to prosecute on the copper theft.

OFFICES TO BE CLOSED
LISBON — County courthouse offices will close at noon next Tuesday, election day. They also will be closed Monday, Nov. 12, in observance of Veterans Day.

Long, lean, and packed with punch, the new Ford Fairlane 500 is actually larger than many medium-priced cars... and it's offered at low Ford prices!

What's new in the new kind of Ford

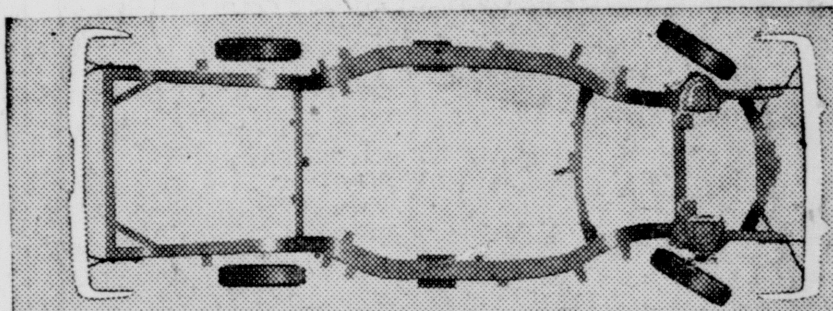

Custom and Custom 300

Fairlane and Fairlane 500

NEW choice of sizes. These '57 Fords make "big" a low-priced word. The new Ford Custom and the Custom 300 are lower, wider, than any Ford before and over 16 feet long. The Fairlane and Fairlane 500 are even lower and longer... over 17 feet long! Ford is the only car in the low-price field that comes in two sizes. You'll find them all only roof high to a parking meter... and they're as easy to get in and out of as putting the coin in the meter slot! There are 20 beautiful new models to choose from.

NEW outsweep chassis design cradles passengers in a new kind of way for a level, smoother ride. It's a completely new chassis idea wherein the frame flares out so that the floor of the rear seat compartment is inside the frame girders. There's more inside room than ever. And there's full road clearance under the heavier frame.

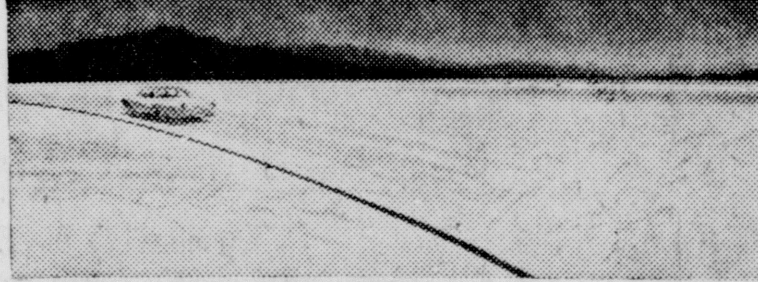

NEW forward-hinged hood—and new engines to go under it! There's a mighty Silver Anniversary V-8 to fit every horsepower need. And there's more power and economy in the new Mileage Maker Six!

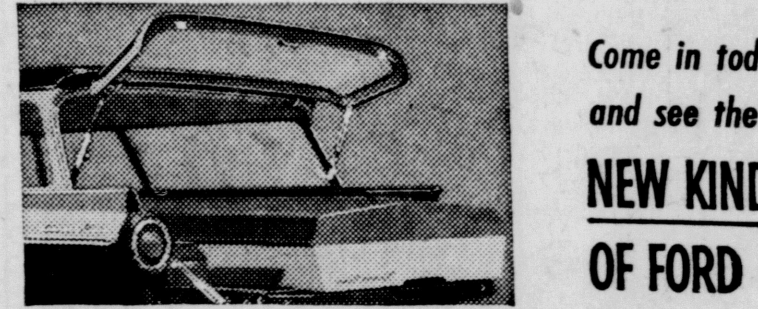

NEW hardtop styling. Fairlane and Fairlane 500 sedans have strong, thin center pillars which are concealed by window frames. With doors closed, you can hardly tell these sedans from hardtops.

NEW low-sweep station wagon roof line. All five of Ford's new station wagons have even more of the beauty and love-for-duty that has made Ford America's favorite wagon. There are three with four doors, two with two doors... seating room for up to nine.

NEW endurance and performance. In the most exhaustive test ever given an automobile, a '57 Ford traveled 50,000 miles in less than 20 days... an average speed of 108.16 mph—including all pit stops!

NEW wider wrap-around rear opening. A completely new liftgate provides greater vision, easier loading. In length and width there's enough room to load a 9-foot boat.

Come in today and see the NEW KIND OF FORD

Six or V-8, the going is great!
